Box No. V Reasoned statement under Rule 43bis.1(a)(i) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	4, 13	YES
	Claims	1-3, 5-12, 14, 15	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	None	YES
	Claims	1-15	NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-15	YES
	Claims	None	NO

2. Citations and explanations:

Claims 1-3, 5-12, 14 and 15 lack novelty under PCT Article 33(2) as being anticipated by US 2005/0234742 A1 to Hodgdon (hereinafter 'Hodgdon').

As per claim 1, Hodgdon discloses a method of managing the wellness of an organisation, the method including: providing members of the organisation with access to a plurality of wellness related facilities and/or services (para [0024], [0072]); monitoring a plurality of wellness related criteria of the organisation (para [0027]); awarding the organisation with an award depending on the results of the monitoring of the plurality of wellness related criteria (para [0011], [0027]); and awarding members of the organisation with an award depending on the results of the monitoring of the plurality of wellness related criteria (para [0011], [0027], [0067]).

As per claim 2, Hodgdon discloses a method according to claim 1 wherein the plurality of wellness related facilities and/or services that the member is provided access to include at least one of: an infectious disease management programme (para [0057]); an emergency medical response while located at premises of the organisation; and a preventative care management programme (para [0111]).

As per claim 3, Hodgdon discloses a method according to claim 2 wherein the infectious disease management programme includes a human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) management programme which includes at least one of: advice on organising an HIV policy; assistance with legislative compliance; assistance in developing an HIV/AIDS committee; voluntary counseling and testing on site for members (para [0056]); medical advice and counselling (para [0111]); peer educator training; support and debriefing for peer educators; encourage enrolment of HIV positive members onto the HIV programme; and access to antiretroviral drugs (para [0040], [0045], [0047]).

As per claim 5, Hodgdon discloses a method according to claim 2 wherein the preventative care management programme includes medical check ups for members of the organisation (para [0095], [0111]).

As per claim 6, Hodgdon discloses a method according to claim 1 wherein the plurality of wellness related facilities and/or services that the member is provided access to also includes counselling (para [0111]).

As per claim 7, Hodgdon discloses a method according to claim 6 wherein the counselling takes the form of telephonic or face-to-face counselling (para [0111]).

As per claim 8, Hodgdon discloses a method according to claim 1 wherein the plurality of wellness related facilities and/or services that the member is provided access to includes life management skills including legal advice, financial advice and social services assistance (para [0074]-Employee Assistance Program (EAP), [0095]).

As per claim 9, Hodgdon discloses a method according to claim 1 wherein the plurality of wellness related criteria include at least one of: medical claims information pertaining to members of the organisation (para [0106]); absenteeism information pertaining to absenteeism of members of the organisation from the business of the organisation (para [0106]); and occupational wellness information pertaining to the occupational wellness of members of the organisation (para [0106]).

As per claim 10, Hodgdon discloses an electronic system for managing the wellness of an organisation, the system including: a monitoring module to monitor a plurality of wellness related criteria of the organisation (para [0022], [0027]); an awards module to calculate an award for the organisation depending on the results of the monitoring of the plurality of wellness related criteria and to calculate an award for the members of the organisation depending on the results of the monitoring of the plurality of wellness related criteria (para [0011], [0022], [0027], [0067]); and a database for storing data relating to the use of the plurality of wellness related criteria of the organisation and for storing data relating to the awards for the organisation and the member (para [0077], [0078]).

As per claim 11, Hodgdon discloses an electronic system according to claim 10 wherein the plurality of wellness related facilities and/or services that are monitored by the monitoring module include at least one of: an infectious disease management programme (para [0057]); an emergency medical response while located at premises of the organisation; and a preventative care management programme (para [0111]).

Continuation of:

Box V. 2. Citations and explanations:

As per claim 12, Hodgdon discloses an electronic system according to claim 11 wherein the infectious disease management programme monitored by the monitoring module includes a human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) management programme which includes at least one of: advice on organising an HIV policy; assistance with legislative compliance; assistance in developing an HIV/AIDS committee; voluntary counselling and testing on site for members (para [0056]); medical advice and counselling (para [0111]); peer educator training; support and debriefing for peer educators; encourage enrolment of HIV positive members onto the HIV programme; and access to antiretroviral drugs (para [0040], [0045], [0047]).

As per claim 14, Hodgdon discloses an electronic system according to claim 11 wherein the preventative care management programme monitored by the monitoring module includes medical check ups for members of the organisation (para [0095], [0111]).

As per claim 15, Hodgdon discloses an electronic system according to claim 10 wherein the plurality of wellness related criteria that are monitored by the monitoring module include at least one of: medical claims information pertaining to members of the organisation (para [0106]); absenteeism information pertaining to absenteeism of members of the organisation from the business of the organisation (para [0106]); and occupational wellness information pertaining to the occupational wellness of members of the organisation (para [0106]).

Claims 4 and 13 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Hodgdon in view of US 2002/0049617 A1 to Lencki et al. (hereinafter 'Lencki').

As per claim 4, Hodgdon discloses a method according to claim 2 with plurality of wellness related facilities and/or services (para [0057], [0111]). Hodgdon does not explicitly disclose the wellness services are emergency medical response includes a response by emergency medical services. However, Lencki does disclose a method of providing benefits to an individual such as an employee includes emergency care (para [0009]). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to combine Lencki's method of providing emergency care benefits to an employee to Hodgdon's method of providing wellness services because adding the emergency service would fulfill the goal of having a comprehensive wellness plan to benefit both employers and employees.

As per claim 13, Hodgdon discloses an electronic system according to claim 11 with plurality of wellness related facilities and/or services (para [0057], [0111]). Hodgdon does not explicitly disclose the wellness services are emergency medical response includes a response by emergency medical services. However, Lencki does disclose a method of providing benefits to an individual such as an employee includes emergency care (para [0009]). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to combine Lencki's method of providing emergency care benefits to an employee to Hodgdon's method of providing wellness services because adding the emergency service would fulfill the goal of having a comprehensive wellness plan to benefit both employers and employees.

Claims 1-15 have industrial applicability as defined by PCT Article 33(4) because the subject matter can be made or used in industry.
